

Objective:

Practice introducing yourself and asking someone's name and origin.

Part 1: Starting the Conversation

- Person A: Hello! My name is Sam. What's your name?
- Person B: Hi, Sam! I'm Taylor. It's nice to meet you.

Part 2: Sharing Basic Information

- Person A: Nice to meet you too, Taylor. Where are you from?
- Person B: I'm from the United Kingdom. And where are you from, Sam?
- Person A: I'm from the United States. What city are you from in the UK?
- Person B: I'm from London. Have you ever been to the UK?
- Person A: No, I haven't, but I'd love to visit someday. What about you, have you been to the US?
- Person B: Yes, I have! I visited New York last year. It was amazing.

Part 3: Talking About Interests

- Person A: That sounds fantastic. What are your hobbies, Taylor?
- Person B: I enjoy photography and traveling. What do you like to do in your free time, Sam?
- Person A: I'm really into sports and reading. Do you play any sports?
- Person B: I play tennis occasionally. How about you? What sports do you play?
- Person A: I play basketball and go running regularly. It keeps me fit and energized.

Part 4: Discussing Work or Studies

- Person B: That's great to hear. Do you study or work, Sam?
- Person A: I'm currently studying. I'm a university student. How about you, Taylor?
- Person B: I work as a software developer. It's challenging but rewarding.
- Person A: That sounds interesting. What do you develop software for?
- Person B: Mostly for mobile applications. It's a dynamic field.

Part 5: Planning to Stay in Touch

- Person A: I'd love to learn more about it. Would you like to exchange contact information?
- Person B: Sure, that sounds like a good idea. I'll give you my email.
- Person A: Perfect. Here's mine as well.

Part 6: Concluding the Conversation

- Person A: It was great meeting you, Taylor. I hope we can talk again soon.
- Person B: Likewise, Sam. Let's definitely keep in touch.
- Person A: Absolutely. Take care, Taylor.
- Person B: You too, Sam. Bye for now!

Tips for Practice:

- Role-play: Alternate roles with a partner to get comfortable with both initiating and responding.
- Personalize: Adapt the script by changing names, locations, or interests to suit different scenarios.
- Pronunciation focus: Utilize tools and resources to mimic the pronunciation of new words, especially place names and hobbies.
- Frequent practice: Engage in the conversation multiple times, aiming to improve your fluidity and confidence with each iteration.
